ALMIGHTY VOICE IS DEAD.

Duck Lake, May 31st.

The Soto Indian "Almighty Voice" (Kiche-Manito-Wayo) was killed to-day.

The particulars of his crime and the story of his death are as follows: In the fall of '95 he was arrested for having a cow in his possession which did not belong to him.

He escaped from his guard and on the 20th of '95, while being recaptured shot and killed Sgt. Colebrook, who was effecting the arrest.

Since then and until to-day he has been an outlaw and in March last a reward of $500 was offered for his capture dead or alive, but, though the police were on the alert to effect his arrest, his whereabouts could not be discovered until Friday last.

When Capt. Allen and a police patrol were fired on by him while he was lying in ambush, Capt. Allen and Napoleon Vienne were wounded, the former in the arm, while Sgt. Raven was shot in the groin and afterwards died from the wound.

From this ambush Almighty Voice was pursued to One Arrow's reserve near Duck Lake where he with three other Indians encamped himself in a bluff which had been prepared before by digging rifle pits and providing food and ammunition.

On Friday night three policemen and two civilians charged the bluff in an unsuccessful attempt to secure the outlaw.

The Indians, firing from cover, killed three of the party, namely, Corp. Hocken and Const. Kerr, of the N. W. M. P., and Ernest Grundy, postmaster at Duck Lake.

One Indian was killed by the whites. Grundy and Kerr fell so near the pit that their bodies could not be recovered.

After this repulse the Indians on the adjoining reserves became excited and saucy and as an outbreak was feared a message was sent to Regina for reinforcements and artillery to shell the bluff, which was surrounded in the meantime to prevent escape of Indians.

A special train was despatched from Regina with twenty-five policemen and a maxim and 9 pounder. Special orders at 3:30 on Saturday afternoon, to gather with seventy-five volunteers from Prince Albert. The bluff was surrounded and every precaution taken to prevent escape of Indians.

On Sunday, yesterday, the guns were unlimbered and the shelling of the bluff commenced. After a number of rounds had been fired by the 9 pounder and the hiding place of the Indians unearthed, the bluff was charged by the police and volunteers. Police were led by Insp. Macdonnell and civilians by Jas. McKay.

MacKay had chance to fire one shot before police and civilians were on top and over them. Almighty Voice had been wounded twice by shells, it is supposed, once in the hip and once in the ankle, and was shot through head and killed in charge.

Three other Indians were also killed. The bodies of Grundy and Kerr were recovered and removed to Duck Lake. They were close to pit and could not be seen from outside of bluff. Grundy's body was mutilated. The bodies of the Indians were buried on the spot. Police and volunteers return home to-day.

LOCAL.

A full blown wild rose was plucked on the 22nd May.

E. TAYLOR, of the H. B. Co., Calgary, is visiting in town.

D. J. McNamara goes south to Wetaskiwin to-morrow.

The Pork Packing company will commence buying hogs to-morrow.

F. JACKSON of the Alberta Hotel went south last train, on a business visit.

DAN NOYES and Joseph Hostyn came in from the Jasper Pass on Friday with a large lot of fur for competition.

ANGUS FRASER, an old ex-employee of the H. B. Co., is at present at Buffalo lake, came in on last train.

It is estimated that from 1000 to 1500 school children will be present on the 22nd to sing the national anthem at the race track at noon.

The high tea and sale of aprons, etc. held in Robertson hall on Saturday night in aid of the English church, was well attended and passed off successfully.

The meeting of the Old-Timers and ex-Mounted Police to attend the Rev. Father Legal, called for Wednesday evening last, was postponed until next Thursday night at the same hour and place.

A MEETING of the ladies who assisted in the high tea and fancy goods sale in aid of All Saint's church, will be held at the residence of Mr. Harrison on Wednesday afternoon next at 3 o'clock, to straighten up the finances of the affair.

The Queen's Hotel will be operated after to-morrow under the new management of Neville White. The interior of the building is being repaired and improved. Mrs. Sharples, late of South Edmonton, will have charge of the culinary department.

At the meeting of license commissioners held last week to consider applications, all the applications were granted. The only objection was in the case of R. Stewart of Lacombe. The objection was, however, overruled and the application granted. Mr. Wane, chairman of the Board, returned south on Tuesday's train.

ERNEST GAUDY, the postmaster of Duck Lake, who was killed on Friday night by the Indian Almighty Voice and his companions, was a warm friend of Sgt. Colebrook, the Indian's first victim. Grundy had frequently expressed a desire to avenge his friend's death and when the opportunity offered readily volunteered to assist in routing the Indians from the bluff. The sad results are too well known and his body has lain for two days so near the Indians' pits that its recovery was impossible. He leaves a widow and four children, the eldest of whom is ten years old.

CHAS. SANDISON returned to Kootenay on last train.

JOHN F. McNAMARA, of Wetaskiwin, came in on a visit yesterday.

MAYOR McDONALD and F. A. Osborne who have been camping for the last two weeks, returned from their outing on Saturday night.

GEO. A. VOYER whose arm was broken and dislocated a short time ago is rapidly improving and will be able to resume his duties shortly.

"ALMIGHTY VOICE" has cost the Independent Order of Foresters over $10,000.00. A number of his victims were members of and largely insured in the order.

The programme of the elocutionary contest to be held to-morrow evening has been increased by the addition of new pieces. Through an error the admission was stated in last issue at 10 cents. It should have been 15 cents.

ISS. SNYDER with Constables McClelland and Smith and two guides and packers, will leave about the 15th of June on a three months patrol in the north. Their route will be to Lac St. Ann, Dunvegan and the Jasper Pass, returning via the Landing.

CORP. DICE and Const. Jealous, of the N. W. M. P., who went from Fort Saskatchewan and Red Deer respectively, as members of the jubilee squad, were, unfortunately, two of the unlucky ones in the final selection. They will therefore not go to the old country.

OWING to the arrival of the clay pigeons sooner than expected, the gun club were unable to have their usual Saturday shoot at the traps last Saturday. The following were the winners of the buttons and medal, J. H. Morris, gold; J. V. E. Carpenter, silver; A. H. Goodwin, bronze; G. Corribeau, medal.

TELEGRAPHIC information received on Friday last stated that the steamer "North-west" was tied up at Sucker Rapids, 22 miles this side of Victoria awaiting a rise in the river before she could proceed. As the river has been falling ever since, the indications are that she will remain there some time.

WETASKIWIN is holding a jubilee celebration on the 30th of May, to the 7th anniversary of the city's incorporation. It is held in order not to conflict with dates of Edmonton or South Edmonton celebrations. A large programme is being prepared to consist of all kinds of sporting events, for which $500 will be given in prizes.

"The Star Mining Co." is the name of the first mining company incorporated in the Edmonton district. The company will work placer diggings on the Saskatchewan river, which seemingly are proving to be a rich proposition. The mining industry of this district combined with its wonderful agricultural productiveness ought to bring very prominently before the outside world, and will be away ahead of paid immigration "blarney" as an attraction to immigrants.—Revelstoke Herald.

MONSIEUR LEGAL.

By last Monday's train there arrived in Edmonton their Lordships, Bishop Grandin and Bishop Legal, also the Rev. Fathers Ledue and Lacombe.

Their arrival brings joy to the Catholic missions of the Northwest, for Monsieur Legal has been designated by the Pope, coadjutor of His Lordship Bishop Grandin, with the right of succession.

For a long time Mgr. Grandin, owing to his age and infirmities, has begged both His Holiness the Pope and the superior general of his order, to give him a coadjutor. The choice has been fixed for years on him, whom the young church of St. Albert salutes with joyful gratitude. The old bishop of St. Albert seems now to forget his sufferings and his anxieties. His coadjutor will be his second self, his right hand.

Monsieur Legal, was born in 1849 at Nantes, France. His studies were brilliant and solid and were crowned with high diplomas of the French university. He then taught with great success in the seminary. He was ordained priest in 1874.

He joined the congregation of the Oblate Fathers in 1880, and was immediately sent by his superiors to Montreal and from there to the missions of the diocese of St. Albert.

Monsieur Legal appointed to him as his field of labor the mission of Saint Francis Xavier, the tribe known as Blood Indians, on the Belly river, in the southwest of the diocese, near the Rocky Mountains. It is there that the Rev. Father Legal, together with his great friend and brother in religion, the Rev. Father Lacombe, laid the foundations of this difficult mission. There, with admirable perseverance he learned to speak perfectly the language of the savages. In a short time, wishing to make himself all to all, he also learned the English language. Notwithstanding all difficulties and the indifference of the tribe, he never lost hope. When it was thought of abandoning these unfortunate people, he pleaded the cause of those whom he had adopted as his children. God heard his prayers and blessed his sacrifices.

Suffice it to say that at the great feast of Christmas last year, the happy missionary had the consolation of baptizing and marrying Red Crow, Mikestow and his wife, and giving them their first communion.

It was through the influence of Monsieur Legal that the government hospital was constructed and works so successfully, thus benefiting the poor Indians who have ever found in our new bishop, a father, a friend and a protector. He it is who so well aided by his wise counsels the Sisters of Charity of Nicolet, who work so devotedly in this institution which has been handed to the church and to the government.

It may be interesting to add that the Rev. Father Legal had always been the chosen man of His Grace, the late Archbishop Tache, who was a good judge of men.

We rejoice then with the diocese of St. Albert, which the Holy see, so highly favors on this occasion.

A FRIEND OF THE BISHOP ELECT.

DR. BRAITHWAITE's gold dredge is now operating successfully on Hibbert's bar, up the river. It started operations on Tuesday of last week.

ANGELINA MACOLISH, a fourteen year old Galician girl, one of the late immigrants, died at the hospital here on Friday from pneumonia.

The bear that was seen at the nuisance ground last week and diligently hunted for, was shot a few days ago by Mr. Whitley near the Sturgeon.

MERCIER & BEDARD with a hand dredge employing three men, are now saving black sand at the rate of about 1,500 lbs. per day, besides securing a much free gold as formerly. They are near the mouth of the White Mud.—Plainsdealer.

CONST. HOCKIN, of the N. W. M. P., another victim of the Indian Almighty Voice, was well known throughout the west, having been for some years a rancher near Macleod and a celebrated polo player. He was also an ex-captain in a Sussex regiment in England.

POLICE COURT.

At the police barracks, Edmonton, on the 28th May, before G. A. Gairdner, J.P., Thomas Allen was charged with obtaining money under false pretences from William Kytley. Adjudged for a week.

At St. Albert on the 29th May, before G. W. Gairdner, J. P., I. Gagnon was charged with assault. Settled out of court.

FORESTERS' PARADE.

The two local courts of the Ancient Order of Foresters, namely Court Clyde, South Edmonton and Court Beaver House, of Edmonton, combined for the occasion and held a church parade last night.

The procession which was led by the Edmonton band, was formed at Hourston's hall, about thirty-five Foresters falling in line. From the hall they marched down Main street and south to the Methodist church continuing around on the brow of the hill and then back to Main street and to the English church where an appropriate and instructive sermon was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Gray.

After the service was over the procession reformed and returned to the hall where, after a few short addresses by the officers of each lodge, the members dispersed.

Considering the short time that these two lodges have been formed, their present strength is a most forcible argument in favor of the popularity of the order.

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, May 22, '97.

Considerable progress was made during the past week with the estimates, and a number of matters of interest were dealt with, a great relief from the interminable discussions regarding the civil service which occupied the greater part of the time throughout the preceding part of the session. It may be that, after all, Mr. Cameron's apparently ill-advised attack has had a good effect in putting the opposition rather on the defensive, and getting them into the humor of accepting the situation, rather than arouse the active antagonism of the government towards their pet officials.

A lively passage took place on the estimates for the salary of the deputy of the controller of customs. This gentleman enjoys a salary of $3,200, which is the standard salary paid to deputy ministers. In addition, he receives $800 as grain inspector. To Mr. McMullen, the well known liberal member for North Wellington, this appeared very much in the nature of a steal, if not by, at least on behalf of Mr. Miall, making his salary up to within a thousand dollars of the amount paid the controller, and exceeding that of the deputy minister of interior, whose duties are certainly very much more difficult, by this amount of $800. Mr. McMullen moved that the $800 allowance be struck out. He received the support of a large number of members on both sides of the House. The western liberals and the patron members voting with him; but the old guard of the conservatives, including Mr. Davin, stood by their officers, and with the assistance of the ministry carried the vote by a considerable majority.

On the day following, partly to cover their tracks in voting for this expenditure, partly to vent their spleen against Lord Aberdeen, and partly to attack the patron members, Mr. McInnery moved to reduce the expenditure on Rideau Hall from $18,000 to $15,000, although Mr. McInnery was unable to point out in what way the money could properly be saved, and although Mr. Tarte assured the House that the amount was absolutely necessary according to the custom which had grown up under the conservative administration; and indeed was a much smaller amount than had usually been expended under that administration, Sir Charles Tupper spoke and voted to reduce the expenditure. In the course of the debate it was shown that the expenditure which Sir Charles Tupper thought was three thousand dollars too much when standing at $18,000, had under the administration of himself and friends for a number of years run from $40,000 to $60,000 a year. The patron members took the ground that the maintenance of Rideau Hall should either be provided for by a specific vote, or should be borne by the occupant, but they did not choose to lend themselves to an evident slap at the Governor-General, instigated by Sir Charles Tupper's animosity towards him, by voting for a trifling reduction for which absolutely no grounds were shown. For this they were denounced in terms of the grossest personal abuse by Mr. Bennett, of East Simcoe, and others, whose evident desire was to crack the party whip over conservative patron electors and bull dose them into the unreasoning and unquestioning support of the conservative party which in former years was the leading article in their political faith. The expressions used were so extreme as to disgust the House with the parties using them, and to mark most clearly the line of distinction which is maintained by the old-line members of the conservative party between the interests of the farmer and the other interests of the country; they apparently holding, as they have always held, that it is the farmer's business to pay all that is demanded of him, and to vote as he is told.

On Thursday Hon. George E. Foster made a very strong attack on the government for having let the bank note printing contract for the coming five years to the American bank note company, instead of to the British American bank note company, which has had the contract since 1867 and has given every satisfaction. His speech on this occasion was acknowledged to be the best that he has delivered during the present parliament, both in manner and matter, and he certainly made out a strong case against the government on patriotic grounds. The reply by Mr. Fielding was as effective as Mr. Foster's attack, showing him to be a most able debater, probably the best in the House. His statements were clear and well put; his facts were at his finger's ends; his replies were as quick, keen and pointed as they could possibly be. He claimed a saving to the country of $153,000 during the five years that the contract will have to run, and explained what might otherwise appear questionable in his conduct toward the British American Bank Note Company by the plain fact that that company had evidently expected to take advantage of the government as having a monopoly of the business; in as much as their tender was $50,000 higher than the prices they had been getting for the same work during the past five years. The strongest point in Mr. Foster's charge was that the American Bank Note Company was given an opportunity to amend its tender, while the British American Bank Note Company was not given that opportunity. As was afterwards shown, when the British American Company saw that they could not bleed the government to the tune of $50,000, they were willing to do work at the same figures as the American Company, but this was not until the contract had been let to the American Company. It is a matter for regret, however, that when Mr. Fielding saw fit to allow the American Company to amend their tender, not in the matter of price but in other essential parts, he did not allow the British American Company the same privilege. This is the weak point of his case, and while the country will support him in making the saving that he has done, and in refusing to submit to extortion, they cannot support him in allowing privileges to a foreign corporation which he did not allow to a home institution. Canadian national sentiment is not as strong as it should be, but it is too strong to be safely ignored, and should be cultivated rather than ignored in the conduct of the business of the national government.

On Wednesday Lady Aberdeen addressed the members of the Senate and House of Commons, regarding the proposition to endow and organize an order of Trained Nurses throughout Canada. Her Excellency made a very strong impression on the minds of those present, in favor of this project as being a living memorial of the greatness and goodness of the Empire and of Canada at this time. Hon. Sir Henry Joly, Hon. George E. Foster, and Hon. Sir Oliver Mowat, all heartily endorsed the proposition, and a resolution supporting it was carried unanimously.

An exciting debate occurred in the railway committee on Friday regarding the incorporation of a company to build a railway across the White Pass, from the head of Dyea Inlet to the head waters of the Lewes branch of the Yukon, a distance of thirty miles, to establish steamers on the Yukon and to do a trading and mining business in the Yukon country. The bill contained provisions allowing arrangements to be made with the company to exercise governing powers, this was struck out. Strong objections were also made to the granting of powers to trade and mine; it being pointed out that the company holding a monopoly of transportation would be able to monopolize the trade and mineral rights of the country. Sir Charles Tupper, on behalf of the company, argued that as the country was unknown, and as cheaper transportation was a great necessity, it was good policy to allow these mining and trading privileges, in order to secure cheaper transportation. Shortly the idea of those supporting the railway company in its claim for trading and mining privileges might be expressed as "There is a big country; we don't know what's in it; let us give it away." Although the mining and trade propositions were carried in the committee, they were shorn of many of their objectionable features; and if a suggestion of the Hon. Mr. Blair is carried out, namely: That these privileges be not exercised until the railway is completed and steamboat transportation furnished, the country will not be seriously endangered by them.

The lobbies of the House have been full for the last two or three days with gentlemen advocating different schemes in regard to the Crow's Nest Pass railway and sections thereof that is to say, the schemes differ in detail, but in general plan they are practically the same, namely: To bleed the government for a subsidy, and monopolize the traffic and resources of the Kootenay country. Although the Globe, which appears to have become the organ-in-chief of the C.P.R., publishes a report that the government is now arranging terms with the company, there is no indication outside the columns of the Globe that this is the case. On the contrary the impression is general that the C.P.R., having failed to secure their own terms from the government directly, are putting forward some at least of these minor propositions with a view of acquiring from them afterwards any rights or concessions they may be able to secure through political pull. It is not likely however, that the scheme will work as long as Hon. Mr. Blair is minister of railways.

Besides the Yukon railway and trading charter already mentioned two other applications for railways into the Yukon country are to come before parliament or the government this session. One proposes to run from the head of Taku Inlet, at the mouth of which Juneau City is situated, to Tesselin lake; the head of the Hoctalunka branch of the Lewes, which is said to be easily navigable for steamboats. This road would be somewhat over a hundred miles in length. Another proposition is for a line from the head of navigation on the Stickeen River to Tesselin lake. This road would be some two hundred and fifty miles in length. These projects are looking for direct subsidy from the government. All three reach salt water in United States Territory. There is no doubt that the reports of recent rich discoveries on the Klondike are the cause of activity regarding these railway charters. If the Klondike diggings turn out anything like as rich as they are represented, no special inducements will be necessary to get railways into the Yukon beyond an ordinary subsidy; and if they do not turn out according to representations no reasonable subsidy will secure or will warrant the building of any of the railways projected.

The first fruits of the jubilee festivities came before the House on Thursday in the shape of a vote of $26,000 to pay the expenses of the militia and police contingent to be sent over. The bill was put through on a gallop and it was assented to by His Excellency on Friday, together with a number of private bills which had passed the third reading. No criticism in regard to this estimate was made, nor any questions asked.

On Friday night, in reply to a question by Mr. Oliver, Hon. Mr. Tarte said that the government had received the bonds of the town of Edmonton to the amount of $25,000, and that the early commencement of a railway and traffic bridge across the Saskatchewan was engaging the attention of the government.

The House adjourned on Friday night until Tuesday, when, according to Hon. Mr. Fielding's announcement, the items of the tariff will be brought down for discussion.

TAKE OFF YOUR HAT: HERE COMES SOUTH EDMONTON.

South Edmonton is jubilant and climbing upon the pinnacle of its own would be importance, proclaims with exultant voice, through its mouth piece the Plaindealer, the proud though some what doubtful fact that it is the permanent terminus of the C. & E. railway, and embryo "first city in Alberta." In one breath it states the startling fact, jells at poor forsaken, sidetracked Edmonton, and pats itself upon the back in anticipation of its coming greatness.

Alas poor Edmonton, the BULLETIN drops a silent tear for you; deserted by the C. & E., jeered at by South Edmonton, how much lower can you fall? The south side has it all, one end of a railroad, future greatness in anticipation and present happiness in the superlative degree but not content even then, its joy is so great that it not only scoffs at the dying but forgets to show proper respect to the dead, and calls in words of biblical rhyme upon the shades of the Edmonton District Railway to arise and save the north town from utter extermination and eternal oblivion by constructing on their own account a railway connection with all that is worth living for, namely South Edmonton and its one end of a railway. Oh tempora, oh mores, "How sharper than a serpent's sting it is to have a saucy child."

South Edmonton, or whate'er your name is to be, we doff our hats and bend the knee to you, the coming metropolis of the North, the future "first city of Alberta", and from your greatness that is to be let us shine a little in reflected glory; let it no be a total eclipse; let us at least "sit on the fence and see you go by." We bear you no ill will, we have not even jealousy. Possess in peace your one end of a railway, and let us return to that oblivion from whence we sprung. By the way, since you want a new name, why not call yourself "Terminus" in honor of the event which is to make you great, and when that event takes place we, of course, will be no more, and to provide for the future which is to be a blank for us, we hereby offer you the free use of the north town as a pasture ground. We can't offer you a bridge to cross upon, much less railway transportation, but we give you "carte blanche" to use this then deserted town as a camping ground for your parvenu pic-nic parties. You may tether your cayus to crop the verdure of our grass grown streets and you may eat your luncheon in the shade of the crumbling walls of our town hall, and when the children of the editor of what will then be the city daily ask, "Pa, what is this place?" you can reply, "My child, this once was Edmonton but it died because I said it was going to and for want one end of a railway."

CHAPTER II.

Climate and Sanitary condition, by H. C. Wilson, M. D., &c., &c.

To intending settlers the question of the climate of their proposed new home, and its effects on health is of great importance as the productive-ness of the soil or the richness of its mineral wealth. Health is one thing essentially necessary to success, and a capital of more than money value.

Generally speaking, the change from an old settled country to a new one, the climate of which is very different, has, for a time at least, an injurious effect upon the health. In the case of persons coming to the Edmonton district from any other country or other parts of Canada, the reverse has been and still is the rule. For over a century the Hudson's Bay Company recruited its staff of officers and other employees from Britain and Eastern Canada; and although these men led a life of constant exposure, passing many months of both summer and winter without the shelter of a house or even a tent, they did not suffer in health. On the contrary, many of these pioneers are still living having attained to ages of seventy, eighty and even ninety; and their children are not surpassed in vigor and strength in any part of the world.

Dr. E. A. Parkes, in his classical and standard work on Hygiene, says: "With regard to the effect on the Anglo-Saxon and Celtic races of going to live in a climate with a lower mean temperature and greater variations than their own, we have the experience of Canada. * * * In all these, if food is good and plentiful, health is not only sustained, but is perhaps improved * * * but certain it is that the European not only enjoys health, but produces a progeny as vigorous if not more so than that of the parent race." Again I quote from the same work in reference to the healthfulness of the various stations for British troops: "These numbers show, what indeed is apparent in all the records, that Canada is a very healthy station. The amount of phthisis has always been smaller than in home service, and regiments proceeding from London to Canada have had on two occasions a marked diminution in phthisical diseases. The comparatively small amount of phthisis is remarkable, as the troops have at times been very much crowded in barracks."

These remarks, while entirely true of Canada as a whole would appropriately and truly apply to Edmonton as compared with Eastern Canada, not only as to phthisis, but also as to malarial and typhoid fevers, cholera, dysentery, cholera infantum and other dangerous diseases.

The first necessity for a healthy climate is a sufficient supply of wholesome water. When this is not obtainable all the above mentioned diseases may and do occur as a direct result; as also dyspepsia, diarrhoea, yellow fever, diseases of skin and bones, calculi (gravel), goitre, intestinal parasites (tapeworm), &c. The water supply in Edmonton is abundant and wholesome in every particular from a sanitary point of view, and the above diseases are not prevalent.

The air is clear, pure and aseptic, containing a large proportion of ozone—the natural air purifier. As to the soil in reference to its influence on health, it is only necessary to state that it does not breed the miasma or malaria which is the cause of ague in its many forms; nor owing to the altitude and low mean temperature can malaria ever exist in the district.

The climate is not only invigorating to adults, whether in full health or otherwise, but seems to have a special influence in developing strong and healthy children. This is most marked in summer when in the East thousands of infants die annually from diseases of the stomach and bowels (cholera infantum, dysentery, &c.) while here a death from any of these causes is a very rare occurrence, and this in spite of the fact that fully nine-tenths of the infants are bottle-fed and receive but a small proportion of the care and coddling that the infants of the East receive and require. Writing on this subject in 1890, Dr. McInnis, with a record of five years, and myself of eight years local practice, we stated, "that diarrhoea, dysentery and other affections of the bowels are of very rare occurrence. Not a single death has ever occurred from these diseases during our sojourn here, and we have not heard of a death from these causes before that time. These remarks apply to infants and children as well as to adults. In Toronto eight per cent. of all deaths are due to these affections, and in Winnipeg sixteen per cent. In Winnipeg and Ottawa the deaths from these diseases stand first in number in the returns; in Montreal second; Toronto third. No better climate for children than that of Northern Alberta is to be found in America." (From a pamphlet issued by the Edmonton Board of Trade, 1890). Seven years additional experience has if anything strengthened my views as above, and I can now say that the climate is the best to be found in America.

Cases of consumption, asthma, all chest and throat diseases, rheumatism, ague, and many other diseases are always greatly benefited and very often cured by a residence here. Typhoid fever is not prevalent, in fact we are almost exempt from it.

In the town of Edmonton is a first class, well equipped hospital instituted and managed by the Grey Nuns or Sisters of Charity, which is open to persons of all religions. There those who have not the means to pay for medical service are treated free by the medical men of Edmonton; and the same care, attention, nursing and attendance is given as to private patients. This has proved a great benefit to many scores of settlers from the surrounding country.

The space allotted to me is too limited to permit me to go into more details. After a residence in Edmonton of fifteen years my experience is that this is a good climate for every class of persons except medical men—it is too healthy.
